PERSONAL SUMMARY

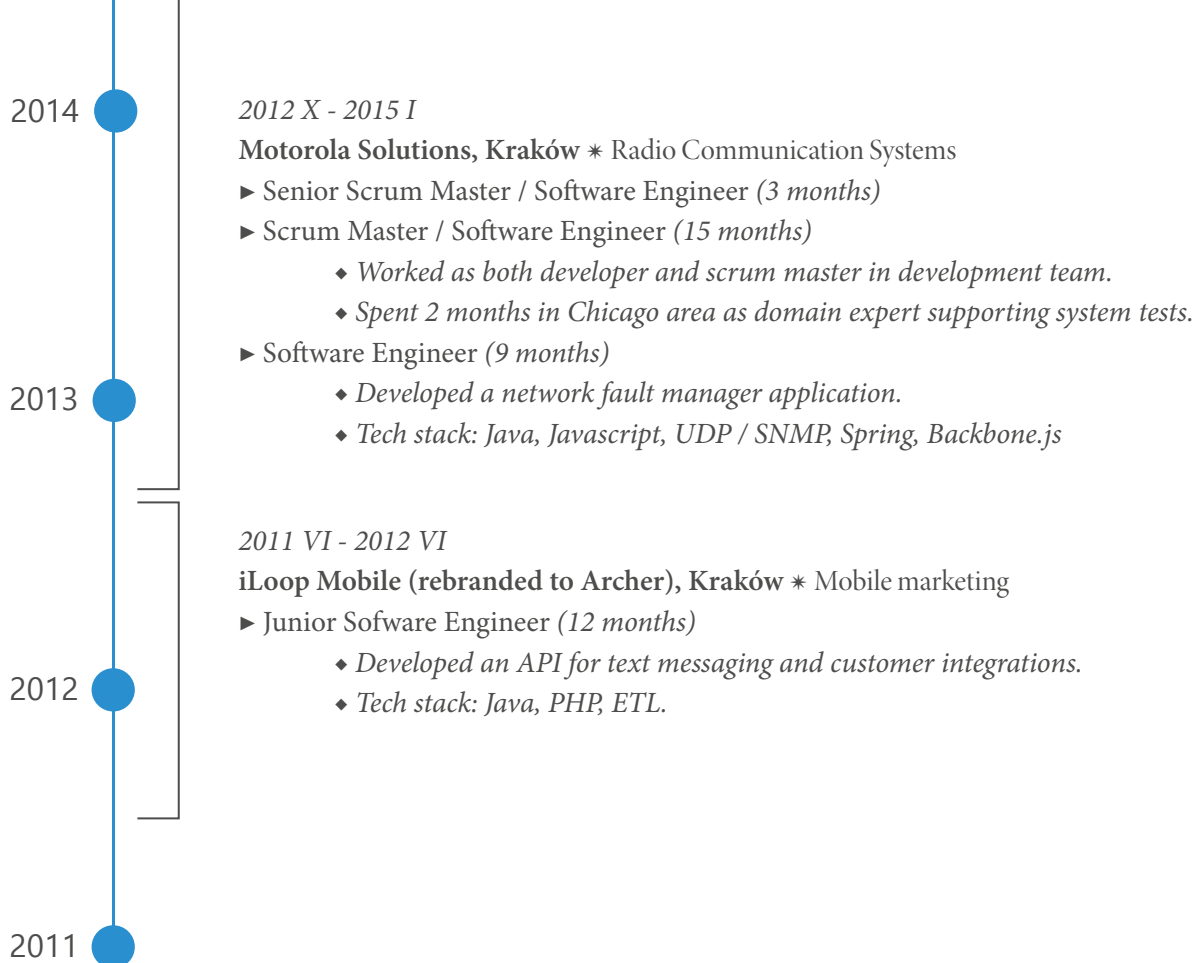

I have 3 years of experience as an engineering manager with a strong technical background. During my 8 years of career in the software industry, I've tasted multiple roles such as software engineer, scrum master, and an engineering leader. I've witnessed building software for multiple industries such as telecommunications, travel, and insurance. Recently I've been focused on cloud-related technologies, working mostly with AWS.

I am a creative, goal-oriented, people-centric leader with a passion for crafting engineering organizations that are both scalable and sustainable. During my career, I've learned that innovation comes for inspired, diverse and motivated teams.

I enjoy an innovative and challenging environment. I like building things from scratch as well as tweaking the existing ones. I think great leadership is as important as an effective and well thought and organized development process. I believe that building the company on the foundations of rationality, transparency, and trust can definitively lead to efficient growth and omnipresent satisfaction.
